

I do not support the individual statutory duty of candour. This is going to affect the relationship between patient and doctor. This is going to affect the openness and honesty of doctors in treating patients